

I am against the idea of broadband over power line. Powerlines are unshielded and will likely radiate into both amateur and swl spectrum. The amount of noise I already experience when listening to AM broadcast radio when near city powerlines is an indication that noise will be there, won't be dealt with and will just get worse.

Thank you for considering my comments,

Wes Szumera